

HENRY WINDSOR VISITING LECTURER

In 1968, Henry Joseph Windsor founded an annual award "for some contribution to surgery" as determined by Council.

Henry Joseph Windsor (1885-1976) was born in Omagh, County Tyrone. He was educated in Armagh, and graduated in medicine from the University of Glasgow in 1909. After postgraduate training in England, he migrated to Queensland in 1914 and set up general practice in Toowoomba. Four years later, he moved to Brisbane and joined the staff of the Mater Misericordiae Public and Children's Hospitals.

His areas of interest were in abdominal and gastric surgery, local anaesthesia, and the nutrition of surgical patients.

He gained a high reputation throughout Australia for careful surgery, in the days before transfusion and sophisticated anaesthetics.

He was elected FRCS in 1957 and FRACS in 1963. He was Senior Surgeon at Mater from 1948 to 1956.

Henry Windsor was a formative influence on generations of surgeons in Queensland. Following his retirement from operative practice, he continued as a consultant, working right up to three days before his death at the age of 91 years.
