- 3.1.2. The medal was created to honour and perpetuate the name of Sir Hugh Devine as he played a leading role in the original concept of RACS, being one of the three signatories to the "foundation letter" of 1925. He achieved world fame for his surgical skills and originality of thought, and was knighted for his contributions to surgery.
- 3.1.3. A nominee for the medal must be a RACS Fellow.

The presentation is normally made at the Annual Scientific Congress (ASC).

3.3. Criteria for Award

Meritorious service to Surgery.
